How to Use This Document

These guidelines apply to all brand expressions — digital, print, social, product UI, partner materials, and internal communications. When in doubt, return to this document. Questions? Contact the brand team at hello@downthestretch.ai.

SECTION 01

Brand Overview

Who We Are

Down The Stretch AI is the premier AI-powered intelligence platform for thoroughbred racing — built for serious participants at every level, from daily handicappers to professional breeding operations.

Evolved from Be The Smart Money (founded 2009), we bring 17 years of racing expertise and community trust to a fully rebuilt, AI-native platform. Our technology processes race variables at a scale no human analyst can match — and delivers those insights with the clarity and depth that the racing community has always deserved.

This is not a pivot. This is a graduation. Everything Be The Smart Money built — the methodology, the trust, the community — lives inside every feature of Down The Stretch AI.

"The Premier Intelligence Platform for Thoroughbred Racing — For Those Who Refuse to Leave the Race to Chance."

SECTION 02

Brand Values

What We Stand For

These six values are not aspirational statements — they are operating principles. Every product decision, every line of copy, and every design choice must be traceable back to at least one of them.

01 • Precision

Every insight is backed by verified, multi-source data.

02 • Integrity

Transparent methodology. Honest outcomes. No black boxes.

03 · Passion

Built by racing fans, for people who love this sport.

04 · Innovation

Cutting-edge AI applied to a sport rich with untapped data.

05 · Accessibility

Pro-grade intelligence available at every level of participation.

06 · Heritage

Honoring 300 years of tradition while building the sport's future.

SECTION 03

Color Palette

Our palette is inspired by Keeneland's iconic deep green, combined with the warmth of racing gold and aged ivory. Every color choice reflects the premium, traditional character of the sport.

These five colors constitute the complete brand palette. No off-palette colors may be introduced without written approval from the brand team.

Color Name	Swatch	Hex Code	RGB Value	Primary Use	Personality
Deep Forest		#0D2B1E	RGB(13, 43, 30)	Primary background, hero sections, headers	Authority, tradition, depth
Racing Gold		#C9A84C	RGB(201, 168, 76)	Headlines, accents, CTAs, borders	Excellence, prestige, energy
Warm Ivory		#F5F0E8	RGB(245, 240, 232)	Body text on dark, page backgrounds	Warmth, clarity, elegance
Sage Mist		#8BAF8E	RGB(139, 175, 142)	Muted labels, secondary text, metadata	Balance, calm, nature
Track Earth		#3D2B1E	RGB(61, 43, 30)	Card backgrounds, depth layering	Groundedness, richness

Color Usage Rules

✓ Do

- Always use Racing Gold (#C9A84C) for primary headlines on dark backgrounds
- Use Deep Forest (#0D2B1E) as the primary brand background — it is the anchor of the visual identity
- Use Warm Ivory (#F5F0E8) for body text and reversed text on dark or photographic backgrounds
- Use Sage Mist (#8BAF8E) for secondary, muted, or supporting text elements

- Use Track Earth (#3D2B1E) for depth layering and card backgrounds within dark compositions

X Don't

- Never place Warm Ivory text on Sage Mist backgrounds — contrast is insufficient
- Never swap Deep Forest for a generic dark color (navy, charcoal, black) — the brand green is non-negotiable
- Never introduce off-palette colors without brand team approval
- Never use full white (#FFFFFF) as a headline color — use Warm Ivory or Racing Gold instead

SECTION 04

Typography

Our type system pairs a classic serif display face with a clean modern body font — tradition meets precision. This pairing reflects the dual nature of the brand: deep racing heritage expressed through modern intelligence.

Display / Heading Font

Property	Value
Primary Typeface	Constantia
Fallback Stack	Georgia, serif
Usage	Brand name, slide titles, section headers, pull quotes, hero headlines, taglines
Style Guidance	Use in Mixed Case or ALL CAPS with generous letter spacing for the brand wordmark. Never use in lowercase for the brand name.
Example	DOWN THE STRETCH AI · Intelligence at Full Stride

Body / UI Font

Property	Value
Primary Typeface	Calibri
Fallback Stack	System UI, sans-serif
Usage	Body copy, captions, data labels, navigation, UI elements, footnotes, metadata
Style Guidance	Regular weight for body text, Bold for emphasis and subheadings. Avoid light weights below 14pt.

Type Scale

Style	Font	Size	Weight	Usage
H1 — Brand	Constantia	48pt	Regular	Brand name, hero title, cover display
H2 — Section	Constantia	28pt	Regular	Primary section headings
H3 — Subhead	Calibri	18pt	Bold	Subsection titles, callout

				headers
Body	Calibri	11pt	Regular	All body copy, product descriptions
Caption	Calibri	9pt	Regular	Labels, footnotes, data annotations
Pull Quote	Constantia	16pt	Italic	Featured quotes, testimonials, brand statements

Typography Rule

Constantia and Calibri are the only approved typefaces for all brand communications. Do not substitute, supplement, or augment with additional fonts — including Google Fonts, Adobe Fonts, or system fonts outside the approved stack.

SECTION 05

Logo & Wordmark

The Down The Stretch AI wordmark is the primary brand identifier. It exists in three approved forms. All three must be used exclusively as specified below — no alterations, recolors, or creative reinterpretations.

Primary Wordmark

Set in Constantia, Racing Gold (#C9A84C) on Deep Forest (#0D2B1E). This is the flagship expression of the brand. Always maintain clear space equal to the height of the letter "D" on all four sides.

DOWN THE STRETCH AI

Reversed Wordmark

Set in Constantia, Deep Forest (#0D2B1E) on Warm Ivory (#F5F0E8). For use on light backgrounds, letterhead, printed collateral, and editorial contexts.

DOWN THE STRETCH AI

Compact Monogram

The DTS•AI monogram is approved for small-format uses: app icons, favicon, watermarks, embossing, and contexts where the full wordmark would be illegible or impractical.

DTS • AI

Clear Space

Minimum clear space around the wordmark is defined as the height of the capital letter "D" in the wordmark. This space must remain free of all other typographic and graphic elements in every application.

Wordmark Usage Rules

✓ Do

- Use the gold wordmark on Deep Forest, Track Earth, or very dark photographic backgrounds
- Use the ivory wordmark on rich, dark photographic backgrounds with a sufficient dark overlay
- Maintain clear space requirements at all times — in every medium
- Use the heritage attribution line — "From the creators of Be The Smart Money, Est. 2009" — in partner materials, investor decks, and pitches
- Scale the wordmark proportionally — always lock aspect ratio when resizing

✗ Don't

- Never stretch, distort, rotate, or alter the wordmark proportions in any direction
- Never place the wordmark on busy photographic backgrounds without a sufficient dark overlay
- Never change brand colors or use off-palette colors for the wordmark
- Never apply drop shadows, gradients, glows, outlines, or effects to the wordmark

- Never use the old Be The Smart Money branding alongside the new wordmark
- Never recreate the wordmark in a different typeface

SECTION 06

Brand Voice & Tone

Down The Stretch AI speaks like the smartest person in the paddock — someone who knows this sport deeply and wants to share what they know. Our voice is never condescending, never corporate, never generic.

The following four voice attributes define how we sound across every channel — from social posts to product UI microcopy to investor materials. Read them. Apply them. When copy doesn't sound right, check it against these four.

01 • AUTHORITATIVE

Lead with expertise, never arrogance. We know this sport.

✓ SOUNDS LIKE

"Seventeen years of data says this race sets up for the closer."

✗ DOESN'T SOUND LIKE

"Our proprietary algorithmic solution leverages multi-variate regression modeling."

02 • ENERGETIC

Match the pace of the sport. Our copy moves like a horse in the stretch.

✓ SOUNDS LIKE

"The wire is coming. Is your pick ready?"

x DOESN'T SOUND LIKE

"We offer a comprehensive suite of racing-related analytical solutions."

03 • PRECISE

Every claim is sourced. Every stat is verified. We never inflate.

✓ SOUNDS LIKE

"Track bias has favored rail runners in 73% of route races this meet."

x DOESN'T SOUND LIKE

"Our AI is incredibly accurate and beats the market consistently."

04 • INCLUSIVE

Insider knowledge, open door. We meet every fan where they are.

✓ SOUNDS LIKE

"Whether you're picking your first exacta or managing a 20-horse stable, the data is yours."

x DOESN'T SOUND LIKE

"For sophisticated bettors with advanced handicapping experience only."

Tone Shift by Context

Our core voice stays constant, but tone adjusts by context. In product UI: concise and direct. In social: energetic and sharp. In investor materials: confident and data-forward. In community communications: warm and collegial. The attributes above are always present — their intensity shifts.

Visual Direction

Every visual element of Down The Stretch AI should feel like it belongs in the sport — cinematic, grounded, and alive. No generic tech imagery. No stock photo paddocks. Only authentic, motion-forward, sport-first visuals.

Photography Style

✓ Approved Visual Style

- Cinematic, motion-forward imagery — thoroughbreds in stride, jockeys in the stretch, track drama in the final furlong
- Golden-hour and dusk lighting strongly preferred — the warm glow of late afternoon on green turf
- Close-up drama — hooves, silks, the wire, the paddock, the crowd at the rail
- Always authentic over stock — never posed, never corporate, never generic "sports" imagery
- Data visualization overlays on race footage are encouraged for digital use

x Avoid

- Posed, studio-lit horse or rider imagery
- Generic business or corporate stock photography
- Low-resolution or heavily filtered imagery
- Any image that could belong to any other sports or tech brand

Data Visualization

- Racing Gold (#C9A84C) on Deep Forest (#0D2B1E) for all charts, graphs, and data displays
- Minimal grid lines — let the data breathe and command attention
- Bold typography for key headline figures — the number should be the hero
- Racing pace shapes (pace lines, track oval motifs) as design elements within charts where appropriate
- Sage Mist (#8BAF8E) for secondary data series and supporting annotations

Iconography

- Thin-line icons in Warm Ivory or Racing Gold
- Racing-native subject matter: horseshoes, jockey silks, pace lines, track rails, starting gates, stopwatches, binoculars
- Consistent line weight across all icon sets — do not mix icon styles within a single context

X Never Use

- Generic business or tech icons in non-racing contexts (bar charts as decoration, briefcases, lightbulbs, gears)

- Filled/solid icon styles mixed with thin-line icons
- Icon sets designed for fintech, healthcare, or general SaaS products

SECTION 08

Messaging Pillars

Four Pillars for Every Communication

Every piece of communication from Down The Stretch AI — whether a social post, an investor email, or a product feature description — should connect to at least one of these four pillars.

These are not taglines. They are strategic anchors — the territories our messaging always returns to, regardless of channel, audience, or format.

01

Analytical Edge

Core Message: AI processes thousands of race variables simultaneously, surfacing insights no human analyst could produce at scale.

Use when: Describing platform capabilities, differentiating from competitors, speaking to sophisticated handicappers and professional users.

02

Heritage & Respect

Core Message: Technology that honors the sport's traditions rather than disrupting them. We speak fluent racing.

Use when: Building trust with traditionalists, addressing concerns about AI in sport, referencing Be The Smart Money history and the 2009 founding.

Community Intelligence

Core Message: Collective wisdom amplified by machine learning, creating smarter conversations across the entire racing community.

Use when: Describing community features, speaking to casual fans and everyday users, crafting social media content.

04

Empowered Decisions

Core Message: From entry selection to breeding analysis, we give stakeholders the confidence to act on insight, not instinct.

Use when: Speaking to owners, syndicates, trainers, breeding operations, and racing professionals.

Pillar Selection Guide

Audience	Primary Pillar	Supporting Pillar
Daily Handicappers	Analytical Edge	Community Intelligence

Audience	Primary Pillar	Supporting Pillar
Casual / New Fans	Community Intelligence	Empowered Decisions
Owners & Trainers	Empowered Decisions	Analytical Edge
Breeding Operations	Empowered Decisions	Heritage & Respect
Industry Traditionalists	Heritage & Respect	Community Intelligence
Investors & Partners	Analytical Edge	Heritage & Respect
Press & Media	Heritage & Respect	Analytical Edge

SECTION 09

Our Heritage

Using the Be The Smart Money Legacy

Down The Stretch AI is the evolution of Be The Smart Money, founded in 2009. Seventeen years of racing intelligence, community trust, and proprietary methodology inform every feature of this platform.

The Be The Smart Money heritage is an asset — one of the most powerful trust signals we hold. It tells the market that we are not a newcomer, not a startup with a theory, but a proven community that has now taken its technology to the next level. Use it wisely, and use it proudly.

When to Reference Heritage

Reference Heritage In These Contexts

- In partner pitches and investor materials — always include the heritage attribution line
- In press releases and brand announcements — reference the 2009

founding date

- When speaking to existing Be The Smart Money community members — acknowledge continuity and evolution
- In "About Us" and brand story contexts across all platforms
- In industry publications and racing media profiles

Approved Heritage Language

Only these approved phrases may be used to reference the Be The Smart Money heritage:

"From the creators of Be The Smart Money, Est. 2009."

"The evolution of Be The Smart Money — rebuilt for the AI era."

"Seventeen years of racing intelligence, now fully evolved."

Heritage Restrictions

X Do Not

- Use the Be The Smart Money name as the primary brand identifier going forward — Down The Stretch AI is the brand
- Use old Be The Smart Money visual assets, logos, or color systems alongside the new brand identity
- Frame the rebrand as a failure, retreat, or pivot — it is a graduation, an evolution, a next chapter

- Use the heritage reference in contexts where it might confuse the audience about which brand they are engaging with

Heritage Framing Guidance

The narrative is not "we changed our name." The narrative is: the platform the racing community trusted has grown into something larger. The intelligence that powered Be The Smart Money is now fully AI-native, fully rebuilt, and available to the entire sport. Lead with pride, not explanation.

SECTION 10

Taglines

Our tagline system gives communications teams a primary line that works everywhere, supported by a curated set of context-specific alternates for targeted use. Default to the primary. Use alternates only when context-specific resonance is needed.

Primary Tagline

Intelligence at Full Stride

Rationale: Balances AI credibility with racing energy. Works across all contexts — pitch decks, social media, product UI, outdoor advertising, and broadcast. It is the default for all brand touchpoints.

When in doubt: Use Intelligence at Full Stride. Always.

Approved Alternates

For contextual use only. Each alternate is approved for a specific audience or scenario. Do not use interchangeably or as the primary tagline.

Alternate 01 — High-Stakes & Outcome-Focused

"Where the Race Is Won"

For outcome-focused, high-stakes contexts — final furlong advertising, winner-circle moments, championship meet promotions.

Alternate 02 — Handicapping & Wagering

"The Edge Before the Wire"

For handicapping, form analysis, and wagering-oriented contexts — DRF placements, tout-adjacent environments, pre-race content.

Alternate 03 — B2B & Industry Professional

"Data-Driven. Race-Ready."

For B2B, industry-professional, and enterprise contexts — breeding operations, racetracks, ownership groups, industry conferences.

Alternate 04 — Fan-Facing & Casual Audience

"Run Smart. Win More."

For fan-facing, casual, and new-to-racing audiences — social media, entry-level product promotions, community outreach.

Tagline Usage Rules

- Always use Intelligence at Full Stride as the default in all non-specific contexts
- Pair alternates with the correct audience and context as specified above
- Use taglines in Constantia Italic for typographic applications
- Present taglines in Mixed Case (not ALL CAPS) in running copy

✗ Don't

- Do not create new taglines or variations without brand team approval
 - Do not use multiple taglines on the same creative asset
 - Do not truncate, modify, or "remix" approved taglines
 - Do not use alternates as the primary brand tagline in any above-the-line context
